He Came Over Disguisel as an Immigrant, and Makes Grave Charges.

Alleged Immorality Among the Steerage Passengers-Claims Half of Them Are Paupers - The Charges Could Not Be Sustained, and They Were Let Go-A. Minister Threatens to Bring Suit.

New Your, Nov. 17. -H. J. Schultein, the last of the special commission sent to Europe by President Harrison to study immigration matters, returned yesterday. He came in the steerage of the Servia disguised an an Immigrant, and created a lively accus at the barge office by making grave charges concerning the characters of immigrants and incidentally volunteering to give Colonel Weber some legal information. Mr. Schultein, enveloped in a long coat, was approached in the steerage at quarantine early in the morning by Colonel Lee of the Contract Labor Baroau. Making himself known, he was allowed to depart, but sent word to Colonel Weber to hold all the immigrants, and that he would appear about noon to make

The people were accordingly held, but It was within a few minutes of 3 when Mr. Schultels put in an appearance wearing a bland smile and a silk hat. A wearing a bland smile and a slik hat. A great crowd of people were incided around the entrance waiting the discharge of the new arrivals. They were relatives and frances of the immigrants. At 2500 several of the boldest in the crowd want to Cal. Weber, asking that they be allowed to take their wives away. He yielded and then decided to go on with the examination, not walting any longer for Mr. Schulteis. When Mr. Schulteis did appear in seemed surprised that any of the steavage passungers had been allowed to land.

"More than half of these people are paupers," he said, "and at least one of the women is an unfit character to be

Dir. Bories main every part of this wonderful machine with his own hands, and expects to improve it by making it smaller and less combersome. He has christened it the "stetophone."

The Collector Was Wrong,

Bostos, Nov. 17.—The Supreme Court of the United States has reversed the decision of the Circuit Court here, and set aside the ruling of the Collector of Customs in the case of the American Net and Twine Company. Plaintiffs Im-ported some twine which was classed by the collector as linen thread. The firm brought suit in the Circuit Court, claiming that the twine should be classed as gilling twine. The Circuit Court, upheld the ruling of the collec-tor and the case was taken to the Su-preme Court, which holds that the importation is gilling twine and sub-ject to 15 per cent, less duty than as-sessed. More than $100,000 are involved in the case. the collector as linen thread. The firm Eurs, Pa., Nov. 17.—The steamer reached this port at noon vesterday and reported the loss of the schooms. Montcalm, together with her captalus crew of caim, together with use captain crew of six men and a woman cook, in Lake Erle early in the morning, but a dis-patch from Scikick states that all hands were rescued at 1 o'clock. The disaster control about 20 miles from Eric and 15 miles northeast of Long Point, Canada.

The Cheming was within halling dis-tance of the sinking vessel about 3:30 o'clock in the morning, but the wind was blowing a gale and all efforts to throw the line to the deck of the Montcalm were fattle. In attempting to ren-der assistance the Chemium lost her rudder and might also have been lost had not a passing vessel picked her up and towed into this port. The Montcalm was half full of water when the signal of distress was first sighted, and sank

The vessel was an old wooden affair, 257 tons burden, built in 1857, and of little value. She was engaged in the lumber trade. Her principal owner was Charles H. Blakeslo, of Rochester, N. Y.

Sweeping Changes in Articles of Faith. New Your, Nov. 17. — The special meeting of the Presbytery of New York to consider the report of the General Assembly Committee on the proposed Bevision of Faith, and also the recommendations of the local committee thereon, met yesterday. While both of the above committees have suggested some radical changes, they were not aweeping enough for the majority of the members of the local Presbytery. In their desire to be rid of the slightest tendency toward the support of the old Calvinistic article of faith, that of the doctrine of soverign preterition, eternal fore-ordination of everlasting death, the entire confession was carefully scanned and every syllable upon which a con-struction might be placed suggesting this doctrine, was carefully expanged. Woman's Department at the Fair-

The Family Hammer.

There is one thing no family pretends to do without-that is a hammer. And yet there is nothing that goes to make up the equipment of a domestic estab-lishment that causes one-half as much agony and profanity as a hammer. always an old hammer, with a handle that is inclined to sliver and always bound to slip. The face is as round as a full moon and as smooth as glass. When it strikes a nail full and square, which it has been known to do, the act will be found to result from a combination of pure accidents. The family hammer is one of those rare articles we never profit by. When it glides off a until head and mashes down a couple of fingers we un-hesitatingly deposit it in the yard and observe that we will never use it again. But the blood has hardly dried on the rag before we are outdoors in search of that hammer and ready to make another trial. The result rarely varies, but we never profit by it. The awful weapon goes on knocking off our nails and mashing whole joints and slipping off the handle to the confusion of mantel orna ments and breaking the commandments and cutting up an assortment of astounding and unfortunate auties without let or hindrance. And yet we put up with it, and put the handle on again, and lay it away where it won't get lost, and do up our mutilated and smarting fingers, and yet, if the outrageous thing should happen to disappear we kick up a regular hullabaloo until it is found again. Talk about the tyrannizing influence of a bad habit! It is not to be compared to the family hammer.
